MSEL Students:

MSEL students, in collaboration with Bill Savage, a consultant with Van Pelt Construction Services, reported on their class collaboration with the Capital Facilities Program to create a sustainable green building policy to help the environment in a positive way. They presented their recommendations to save money with waste prevention, and reductions in water and energy usage, with the use of artificial grass, low flow/no flow toilets, occupancy sensors on lighting, plug load controls, composting, food waste sorters, recycling, and student education. Their policy recommendations were to: reduce occupancy lighting by 20%, reduce water usage by 25%, and recycle 80% of waste, and ask teachers to use online resources to reduce use of paper. The students responded to trustee questions regarding plug load control, communication with the SRHS Green Team, and waste of cafeteria food. Trustee Jackson suggested a future look at electric vehicle charging stations. Mr. Savage responded to President Kertz's question about how this information will be incorporated into site construction planning, noting that some of the recommendations will be incorporated into the District standards as they are being developed.

Brendan Pipkin with SEI reviewed his work with MSEL and SRHS Green Team students and hopes to draft policies to align with Green Ribbon schools. He shared that Mr. Savage will be working with students in a long term energy competition to reduce energy and waste through behavior and renewable energy production, plans to work with Marin Sanitary to conduct waste audits, and planning with committees at both SR and TL.

He reviewed the purpose and benefits of a SMP and ways to finance solar projects. He noted other districts around the county that have installed solar. He provided information about the life span and warranties on solar panels, and some information about storage possibilities. With the Board's agreement to move forward, the next step would be to have a RFQ for consultant for procurement projects, with a RFP to be developed from there. The Board provided direction to proceed with next steps.

will be adjusted after final amounts are received from the state. He provided a review of the ESD and HSD lists of proposed projects and a preliminary analysis for a districtwide energy management system. He noted that Prop 39 funds will give an opportunity for some upgrades to sites that are not in the current bond program. He noted that projects are looked at with solar in mind. Mr. Savage and Mr. Kelly from Helios responded to questions from trustees regarding HVAC and energy management systems, the lifetime of string interters, Collaborative for High Performance Schools (CHPS) and storage components, and Ed Code 4217 provisions for sole sourcing energy projects.
