

San Mateo Foster City Elementary School District

Equity Impact Action Plan
Equity Task Force Summary

Board Update Report
Phase I
October 2021

VISION OF DISTRICT

The San Mateo-Foster City School District educates, inspires and empowers every student in every school every day to live, lead and learn with integrity and joy.

MISSION OF DISTRICT

The San Mateo-Foster City School District provides rigorous, high quality and equitable education while partnering with our families and community to support all students to achieve their full academic, social and emotional potential.

EQUITY TASK FORCE

The San Mateo-Foster City School District Board of Trustees is committed to ensuring that all students in the district succeed and to addressing the underlying factors that prevent this. In this spirit, the District adopted the National Equity Project's Equity Definition and established an Equity Task Force. The Equity Impact Plan represents the first phase of recommendations to result from the Equity Task Force's work

The district has grappled with many areas of educational equity over time. District equity challenges include schools that are socioeconomically segregated, magnet program challenges, inequitable funding structures, punitive discipline approaches and longstanding achievement gaps that disproportionately affect students of low-income and students of color. The causes of these inequities are complex and their solutions will require systems level approaches to policy, funding and practice.

The Equity Task Force was created to develop, research and propose recommendations that would address equity issues while creating a mechanism to support and sustain systemic changes for equity. The Equity Task Force explored equity issues that are impacting the community and participated in learning opportunities to further their collective understanding of equity. With the support of Nicole Anderson and Associates Consulting and district staff, the Task Force worked to deepen their collective understanding of equity, develop an appreciation of the history of public education and comprehend not only the barriers to equity, but also what holds inequities in place. The team experienced a process that enabled them to not only bond through sharing their own identities, but to recognize the differences and unique perspectives that those identities bring. Overcoming the discomfort associated with discussing and addressing inequities, delving into root causes, exploring missing perspectives and drafting initial action plans were part of the growth and development process.

Community and student listening sessions were held to gather information from and hear the voices of the community and begin the process of learning and understanding this history and manifestation of oppression not just in the United States as a whole, but specifically in San Mateo-Foster City School District. While community sessions were primarily formed to address the issue of School Resource Officers, they provide a replicable framework that the Equity Task Force can use going forward to capture input on a variety of topics.

WORKING EQUITY STATEMENT

Adopted from the National Equity Project

Educational equity means that each student receives what they need to develop their full academic and social-emotional potential as measured through multiple data metrics.

Working towards equity involves the following:

- Ensuring equally high outcomes for all participants in our educational system; removing the predictability of success or failures that currently correlates with any social, cultural or racial factor.
- Interrupting inequitable policies and practices while examining and eliminating biases to create inclusive multicultural school environments for adults and students.
- Discovering and cultivating the unique gifts, talents and interests that every human possesses.

ADDRESSING INSTITUTIONAL RACISM

Recently, outrage has been expressed in the community and around the nation over the murder of George Floyd by Minneapolis Police. The increased visibility of police violence, anti-black sentiments, and racially motivated attacks on people of color, including immigrants and Asian American Pacific Islanders, have forced many to reconsider their views on race and racism in schools. These realities, coupled with the declaration by the United States Department of Homeland Security that white supremacist terrorism is the largest domestic terrorism threat to America, have led many organizations to take action to address institutional racism. Structural or systemic racism refers to a system in which public policies, institutional practices, cultural representations, and other norms work in various, often reinforcing ways to perpetuate racial group inequity. It identifies dimensions of our history and culture that have allowed privileges associated with “whiteness” and disadvantages associated with “color” or proximity to “blackness” to endure, adapt and magnify over time. Structural racism is not something that a few people or institutions choose to practice. Instead, it has been a feature of the social, economic and political systems in which we all exist in our nation (The Aspen Institute Roundtable on Community Change).

In order to effectively engage in the work of interrupting institutional racism, it is critical that safe space be established among all who are impacted by the work. The following four community agreements provide a guide for stakeholders taking a deeper dive into the sensitive and uncomfortable work of addressing racism.

These agreements include the following:

- Stay engaged: Staying engaged means “remaining morally, emotionally, intellectually, and socially involved in the dialogue”
- Experience discomfort: This norm acknowledges that discomfort is inevitable, especially, in dialogue about race, and that participants make a commitment to bring issues into the open. It is not talking about these issues that create divisiveness. The divisiveness that has existed for centuries in society and has been foundational in our schools has never been interracially addressed. It is only through dialogue, even when uncomfortable, that healing and change begin.
- Speak your truth: This means being open about thoughts and feelings and not just saying what you think others want to hear.
- Expect and accept nonclosure: This agreement asks participants to “hang out in uncertainty” and not rush to quick solutions, especially in relation to racial understanding, which requires ongoing dialogue

SYSTEMS CHANGE FRAMEWORK

It is imperative that a systems change approach and its accompanying framework be utilized to identify and address inequities within an organization or system in order to realize sustainable change and elimination of equity gaps. The Task Force process focused on building a political and social infrastructure that supports systemic change, employs new skills and practices, and celebrates progress. As part of this, they utilized the systems change framework found in the Water of Systems Change (John Kania, Mark Kramer, and Peter Senge in June 2018).

Systemic change is long, slow and very challenging to implement with fidelity. Recognizing the magnitude of the work being approached is critical to understanding both the complexity in each step and the human needs throughout the process.

The Systems Change framework makes equity a consistent guiding principle across the entire organization and will help the San Mateo Foster City school district change the way we do business. The overarching purpose of the framework is to guide the elimination of systemic causes of racial and other identity disparities in the schools and district, promote inclusion, belonging and full participation for all educators, families and students in the district, as well as reduce identity-based disparities in our communities. The development of baseline quantitative and qualitative data can be used by board and district leadership, staff, students and community members alike to better understand and measure the impact of inequities. The framework can enable district departments and staff to make data-driven decisions about programs and policies to address these inequities and ensure equitable access to opportunities and services. It can also enable community members to monitor the district's progress towards improvement. Future reports should measure change in racial disparities, identity oppression and social injustices to enable staff and leadership to work in collaboration with community members to implement changes to the equity impact action plan.

EQUITY IMPACT ACTION PLAN DRAFT

The Equity Task Force selected three preliminary areas of focus for its work: 1) Staffing, 2) Safety, and 3) Academic achievement gaps. The work group recommendations are designed to provide high level guidance for district staff, who are then charged with the most appropriate plan for strategic implementation. The recommendations include documentation of the analytical processes used, data reviewed and the group thinking involved. The Task Force and equity action planning should continue, with consideration of how to refine the group process for maximum impact.

DATA COLLECTION

The Equity Task Force work groups had specific feedback on areas of future data collection. A specific concern was raised with regard to the lack of available data on how existing targeted interventions are impacting student outcomes. An overarching recommendation for the board and staff to consider is more effective data collection that allows the district to specifically identify (in a database) which individual students are getting which supports, so that student outcomes can be compared for groups receiving and not receiving specific supports. This information in turn can be utilized to identify what is working so that local best practices can be replicated more broadly across the district. Once common, valid and empirical K-3 literacy and math assessments are identified and implemented, student growth data in the early years should be analyzed to similarly identify classrooms and schools where growth rates are stronger, so that the strongest local instructional practices can be replicated more broadly. This will allow the district to accelerate the closure of opportunity gaps by focusing efforts on the years in which high quality instruction and academic and developmental interventions have the greatest impact.

PROCESS CONSIDERATIONS FOR THE EQUITY TASK FORCE GOING FORWARD

The Equity Task Force has made significant progress towards building and supporting the strategic implementation of an Equity Impact Action Plan. As a team they learned together about equity, spent time getting to know one another, shared stories, gained perspective on the barriers to equity and reviewed the history of public education and some relevant information to inform their understanding of their equity challenges.

The next phase of Task Force development will benefit from formalizing and standardizing internal processes including leadership roles. Task Force member recommendations for continuing to improve the efficacy and responsiveness of the work include the following:

- Develop an onboarding process for new members to minimize the challenges of shifting membership while continuing the collective work.
- Develop a mechanism for the Task Force to address urgent and real time equity issues coming before the SMFCSD school board.
- Continue the operation of a small, representative leadership work group to proactively plan for and solve Task Force process and workflow issues, and to assist in the prioritization and action focus of the work.

APPENDIX X: COMMUNITY & STUDENT LISTENING SESSIONS

To support the information gathering process, a community forum was held on November 2, 2020 followed by a student forum on November 9, 2020. These forums were focused on school safety, facilitated by Nicole Anderson and Dr. Shelley Jones-Holt and were attended by members of the Equity Task Force. The district is encouraged to continue to collect data through community and student dialogues at least 3 times per year to provide trend data over time.

The objectives of the student and community forums are as follows:

1. Gather data on experiences/feelings and impact on lives of target stakeholder groups affected by inequities around school safety
2. Gather data on examples, events, policies, practices, and resources that impact inequities around school safety
3. Collect data from sample of groups based on diverse ethnic/gender representation and power structures (students, parents, police, educators, community, etc)
4. Qualitative data collection to inform future methods: Surveys, listening sessions, observation, interviews
5. Data collection to inform action steps in equity impact action plan within the 6 levels of the systemic change framework: policy, practice, resources, relationships, power dynamics, and mental models
6. Provide qualitative and quantitative data that is high quality, reliable, and timely
7. Provide data that can be measured over time to calculate trends and patterns that indicate inequities amongst target stakeholder groups
8. Inform the greater context of data and analysis by stakeholders to yield interpretation that provide indications of inequities and impact on marginalized stakeholder groups
9. Collect and analyze data that is focused on identifying the root cause of inequities to inform response by power structures

During student/community forums, demographic data were captured through a zoom poll feature as well as self entry during breakout room question discussions for panelists, attendees, staff, and students. Information collected included:

- Quantity
- Ethnicity
- Gender
- Grade
- School
- Role in community - students, parents, police, city leadership, faith based groups, advocacy groups, district/school staff-teachers, etc

The community forum consisted of 8 panelists and 26 attendees, whose demographic information is listed below:

- Demographics of community panelists
  - Ethnicity (2 African American/Black, 2 White, 3 LatinX)
  - Gender (6 Females, 1 Male)
- Demographics of community attendees
  - Asian 8% (2/26)
  - Middle Eastern 4% (1/26)
  - White 58% (15/26)
  - African American 15% (4/26)
  - Latinx American 4%(1/26)
  - Mexican American 8% (2/26)
- Demographics of attendees:
  - Parents 23% (6/26)
  - District 54 (14/26)
  - City/Police 8% (2/26)
  - Faith 4% (1/26)
  - Community 12% (3)

The questions for the community forum were:

1. How do you define educational equity?
2. What are the challenges to school safety?
3. What strategies can schools use to effectively address issues of school safety?

The questions for the student forum were:

1. How do you define educational equity?
2. Do you feel safe at school? Why?
3. What are the challenges to feeling safe at school ?
4. What can school leaders and teachers do to make you feel safe in school?
5. What role do police play in your school? Give an example. How does this make you feel?
