MANNER BY WHICH THE APPLICANT'S PROGRAM CONTRIBUTES TO AND STRENGTHENS THE SCHOOL, DISTRICT, OR PARTNER'S GOALS AND PRIORITIES FOR ARTS EDUCATION

We acknowledge that Marin Theatre Company's programs provide an in-depth syllabus that integrates into the broader curriculum and fulfills the California Visual and Performing Arts Theatre Content Standards. Due to limited classroom instructional time, they identify key standards from among the comprehensive listing of California standards. These standards assist our school in collaborating with Marin Theatre Company to design curricula that balance depth with breadth, feature active participation along with listening and observation, and assess student progress through use of assessment tools. In these ways, we work with Marin Theatre Company to provide students with creative engagement designed to illuminate their experience with academic curriculum.

SCHOOL /DISTRICT ALIGNMENT OF APPLICANT'S PROGRAMMING WITH CURRICULAR GOALS

At each school, classroom teachers attend classes with their students and have opportunities to create connections between the arts and other areas of classroom learning. For example, classroom teachers observe how students learn to think critically and apply information, knowledge and skills to solve problems, and build a positive self-image, and develop a positive attitude towards school and others in the context of developmentally appropriate organization of learning experiences.

DISCIPLINE TO BE TAUGHT, INCLUDING THE NUMBER OF INSTRUCTIONAL HOURS

The goal is to provide weekly instruction across the school year. The number of sessions is equivalent to two semester-long programs of weekly classes. Classes will conclude by May 5, 2016.

Marin Theatre Company presents professional theatre arts integrated instruction in conjunction with academic curriculum. At the school, a decision is made regarding a primary area of focus. For example, you may choose a primary focus on theatre classes to correlate with English or History. Whatever the discipline, the common thread is to encourage a connection between art and education, that each inspires and reinforces the other, providing students with a creative, diverse and supportive environment where they can take creative risks and grow.
